Goals, setting the patterns of travel for an individual to follow, coming closer with each success; limits determined by his ambition and objectives attained by the same means. Goals revised to benefit personal talents, redrawn to accomodate new courses of intent and redesignated to overcome obstructing barriers. A lifetime to build on these present ideals and future expectations, and it all began here.

Denese Miles, Editor

Today's confusion emerges into forgotten yesterdays; doubts and anxieties transform into answered questions . . . but today's dreams and expectations are awaiting fulfillment in the new world of tomorrow.

People learning through observing, listening and experiencing; adapting principles to meet their own needs; preparing for a new existence; people learning from others about hopes and dreams . . . about life.

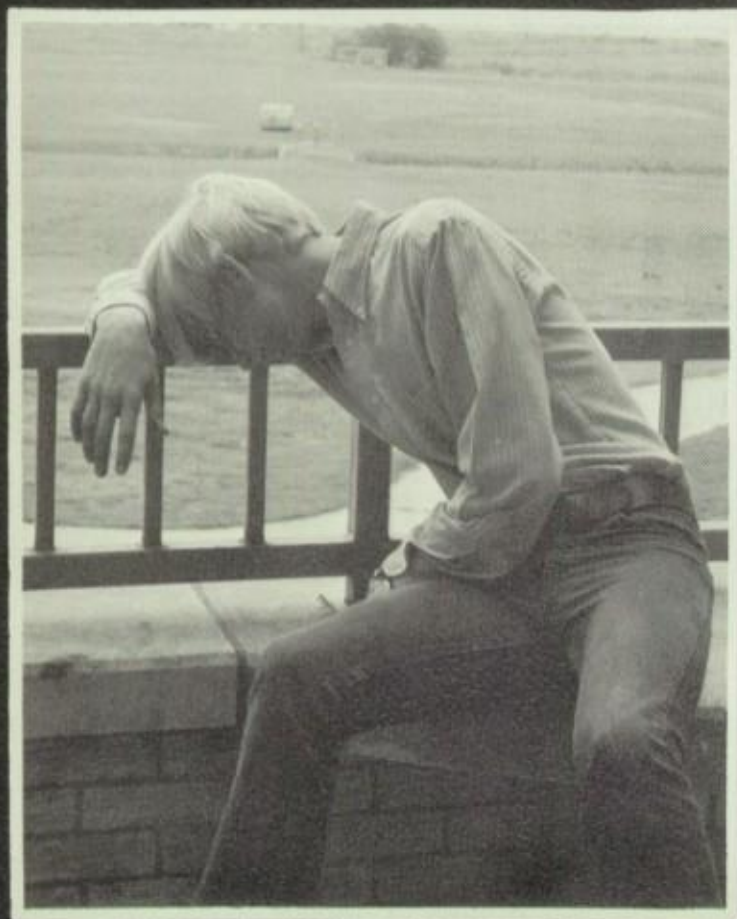

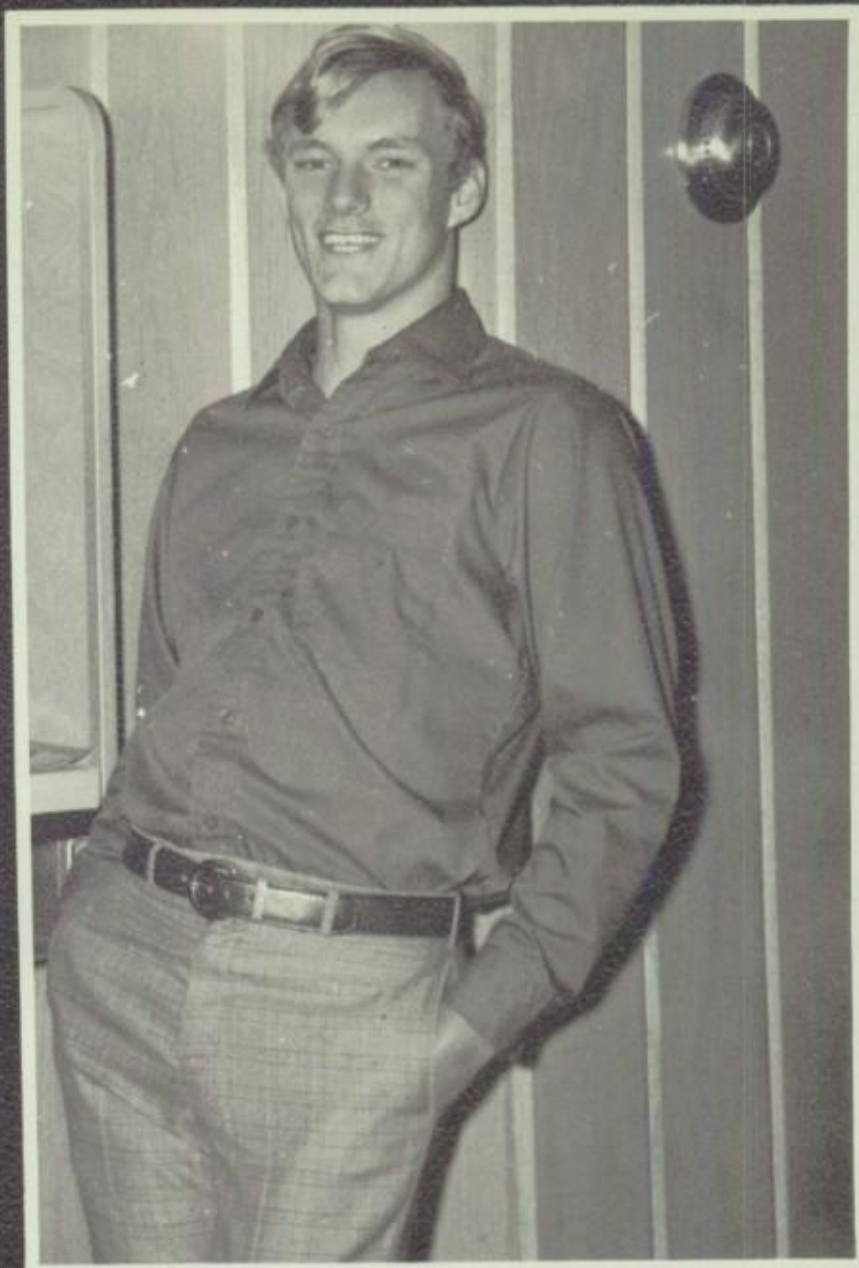

A release from tedious routine, a breaking away from the required and expected . . . evaluate your dimensions and establish positive means of self expression. Set your own limits and attain your own destiny.

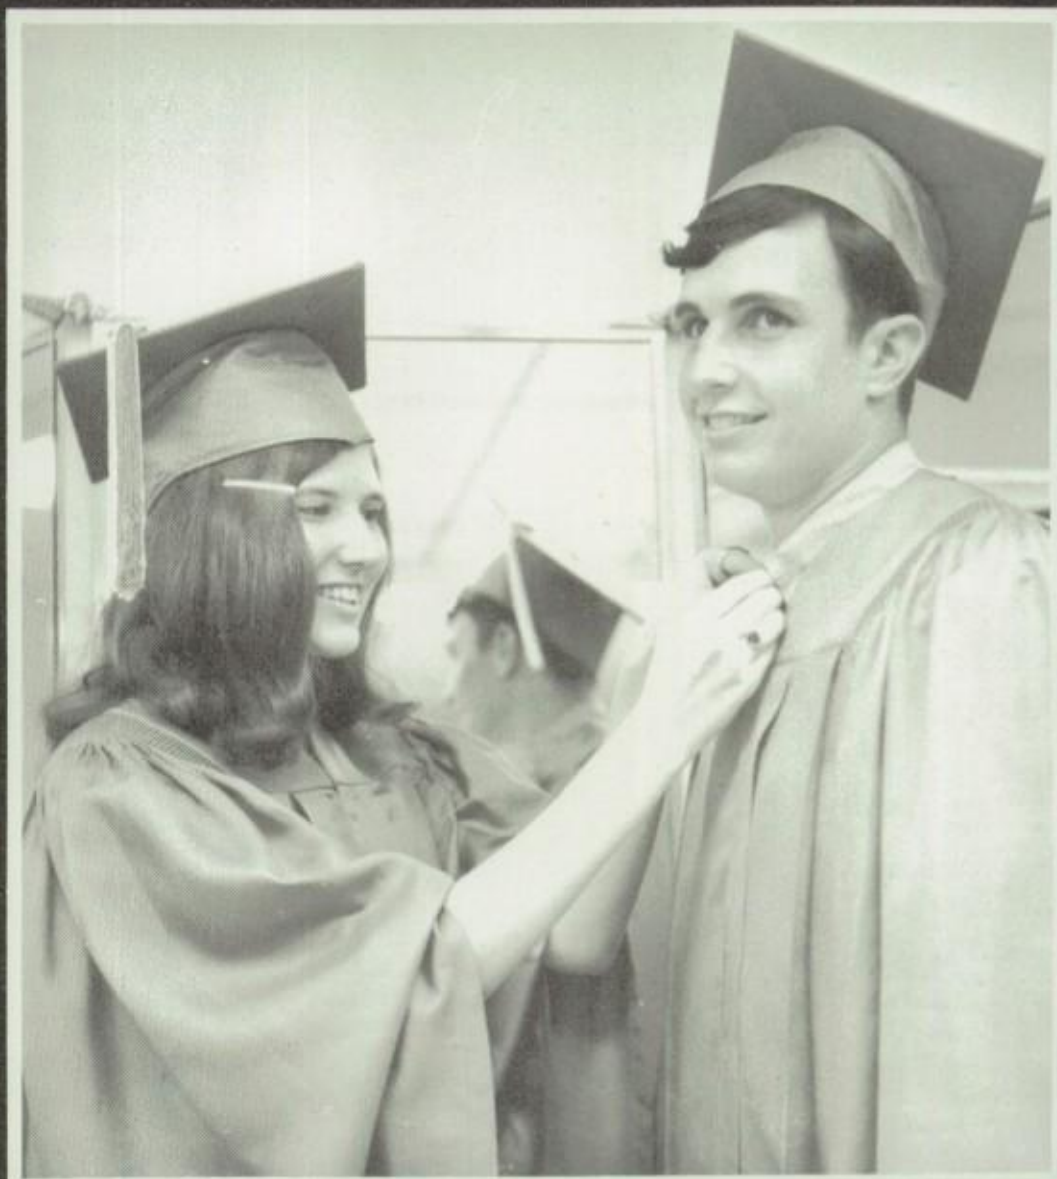

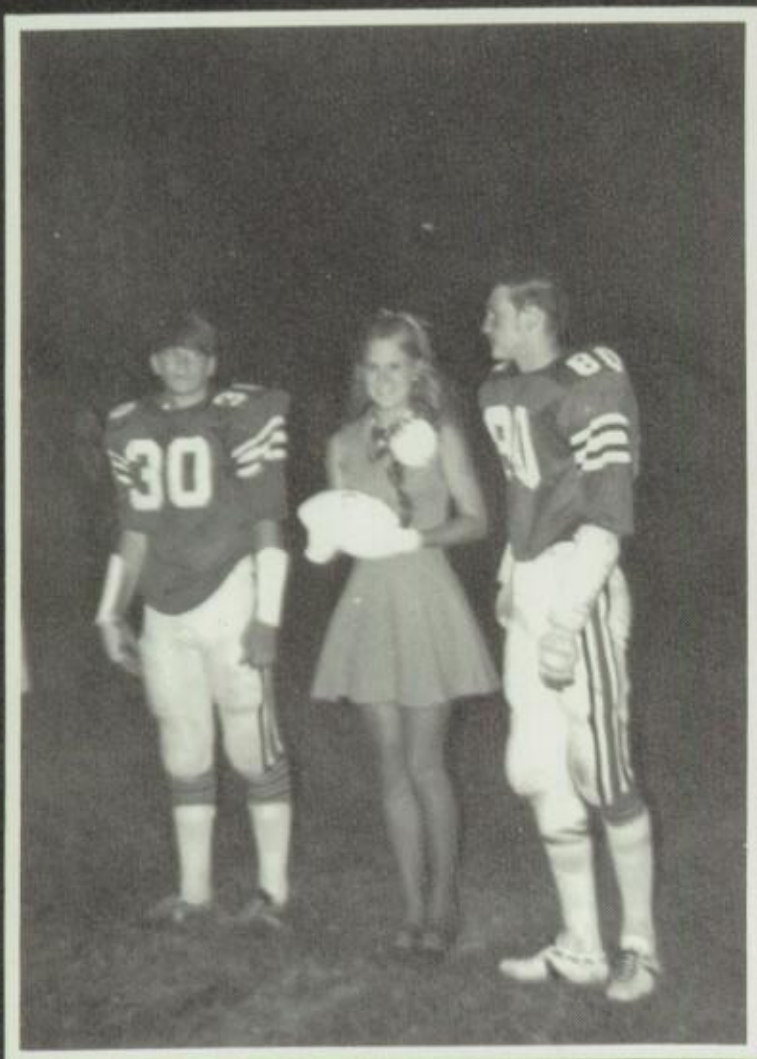

Solitary moments turn fantasy to reality, ends to beginnings, future to present; live these times for yourself . . . unity inspires feelings of spirit, devotion, belonging; experience these times together.

Don't look back except for an occasional glance at a memory that warms your heart and brings a soft smile to your lips . . . look forward . . . there's a life time to go.

Discussing the events of the day are Linda Howard and Sharon Wright.

East Central's 1971 school year started with the combined efforts of the newly-elected senior class officers: President, Paula Hammer; Vice-Pres., Jim Johnson; Secretary-treasurer, Janet LeMoine; and Mr. O. D. Bell in his ninth year of sponsoring the senior class. The homerooms with at least 18 seniors elected a homeroom representative for the senior board. The senior board is the "voice" of the senior class. They decide on major issues that pertain to the senior class. They began the year with the successful new drama, "On Borrowed Time". Other activities included purchasing senior class pins and choosing the place and entertainment for the senior prom, the climax event of the year, which will be held at the Mayo.

Graduation: the Highlight of Our Senior Year

Flowing gowns and flashbulbs mark the solemn, often poignant occasion when East Central seniors assemble for the last time at graduation ceremonies. Above, Mrs. Earl Pregler speaks for Cardinal parents as she captures the passing moments of Mike's high school career. Old friends and old times are reviewed, seniors fearful that these memories may be lost, yet shivering a little with anticipation of walking into the future on their own. Commencement exercises, held annually at Tulsa's Civic Center, and Vespers Services culminate Senior Week during the last week in May.

JUNIORS '71

Class sponsor Mr. Younger shows his added ability as Math teacher.

Under the direction of first-year sponsor, Mr. Luther Younger, the junior class found itself in a position of prestige, claiming 572 members, the largest class at East Central. The Junior Board is a driving force behind the mid-class, which has always had the tag of "the group where the work is." Class officers include Jim Elrod, president, Janet Dees, vice-president, and Carolyn Green, secretary, who also serve as Junior Board officers regarding class projects.

Mid Class Concentrates on Raising Points for '72

The Junior class play is the biggest money-maker of the year. This year, the classic "I Remember Mama" was presented, directed and costumed by Mr. Randall Blair. The feature favorite is the traditional "Mr. Bird Legs" contest, designed primarily to raise funds, but also to promote a light side among the "royalty" of East Central. One of the most popular projects which the juniors sponsor are the basketball concession stands.

Firmly established in high school, not facing the nostalgia of graduation yet, juniors are at the peak to be themselves, flunk a test, "ace" the next one. Anxieties begin to build, suppressed rivalries are in the making as juniors come closer to assuming senior positions next year: presidency of Student Council, editorship of Cardinal Quill and the year-book, senior class president, all the academic honors that lead to college scholarships and personal recognition.

The honor of being chosen Mr. Bird Legs is one that is fought for among East Central boys. The announcement of the second annual Bird Legs winner, Shane Brookshire, a junior, brought cheers from his fellow classmen. On the same day that Miss East Central V was presented with her crown, Shane was presented with his mannequin leg which accompanied his title of Mr. Bird Legs II. Les Diven was voted first runner up. If at any time Mr. Bird Legs is unable to fulfill his duties, Les would take over. Roger Walker is the second runner up. The winners won their titles because of their ugly legs. Votes were cast in pennies and 2,856 were collected, making an all time high.

Leading the sophomores on their way to becoming bona fide Cardinals were this year's class officers. Mr. Rodger Lefler, now serving in his second year as sophomore sponsor, initiated his charges with a special forum which introduced sophomores to what is expected at high school. Getting organized is difficult and frustrating, for various classes from feeder junior high schools must merge into one functioning class at East Central. A step toward progress and priorities was taken this year as Mr. Lefler organized a sophomore board. The representatives met twice a month to make decisions on class activities and fund-raising.

The sophomore board, in conjunction with Mrs. Norma Davis, added a touch of originality on the dramatic scene this year when they decided to present three one-act plays instead of the usual one. This was the class' main money-making activity, but not the only one. During football season red and white Cardinal stadium seats were made available to loyal fans. Sophomores worked along with juniors and seniors by selling candy to help make possible furnishment of the Cardinal Nest and for next year's AFS student. Any interested sophomore had many opportunities to aid his class by participating in any of these projects.

Key Word for Sophomores is Activity

Teresa Talton and Bill Boyer explore the speech facilities in the new east wing of the building.

An important word in the Cardinal vocabulary which describes sophomores is "adaptable". Early in this, their first year at East Central, they showed a great deal of spirit and pride in their school. Active on the social scene, sophomores elected Miss Debbie Syver-son as queen attendant for homecoming festivities. Cheerleaders performed at all B-squad activities and gained a great deal of experience cheering in pep assemblies and at A-squad sports activities. Additional prestige was gained as athletes filled positions this year on the varsity level that have never been filled by sophomores in the past.

QUALIFICATION

Dr. Cawelti: The Lifeline of Tulsa Education

What may be considered the main artery of all Tulsa Public Schools, supplying needs, policies, and programs, is exemplified in the person of Dr. Gordon Cawelti, Superintendent, and Tulsa's seven members of the Board of Education. Dr. Cawelti serves as executive officer of the Board of Education and as the chief administrative officer of Independent School District No. 1. Board members are elected by city voters for three year terms; they meet twice a month to execute such activities as promote high standards of instruction, authorize and approve the annual budget, approve payment of bills, propose bond issues and tax levies, authorize and review the annual school audit, and act upon reports concerning policies, progress, problems, and needs of schools.

Mr. J. W. Payne: Lifeforce Behind East Central

Mr. J. W. Payne
Principal

Mr. J. W. Payne, East Central's number one fan and booster, is now serving in his fourteenth year as top administrator. A former science teacher, Mr. Payne manages to stay equally identified with the school's 70-teacher staff and 1,575-student body. This year he supervised the school's participation in the North Central Evaluation activities, a study which determines the performance and accreditation of member schools. He works closely with the other principals throughout the Tulsa area, making sure East Central maintains an excellent status with the total system. Some of his many duties include: instructing students of their responsibilities and proper attitudes, interpreting the goals of public education as they apply to East Central, encouraging promptness of attendance, providing supervision of the building, grounds, and equipment, and promoting harmonious relationships between Cardinal students and teachers.

Two Assistant Principals and Guidance Staff

Mr. George Dorsch
Assistant Principal

Administrative growth was accomplished this year with two assistant principals, Mr. George Dorsch and Mr. Jim Quetone. Mr. Dorsch, long associated as a man who works with such excellence of details, was also designated as principal of East Central's first summer school session last June and July. New to the assistant principalship this year is Mr. Quetone, who formerly served Cardinal students as a counselor. He was graduated from Northeastern State University at Tahlequah with a B.A. degree in Business and a Master's of Teaching Arts. Both men are prepared to serve in the principal's capacity if he is out of town. They also serve in official capacity at East Central functions, work closely with school counselors and visiting counselors, and evaluate all requests, from teachers or students, which may be counter to school policies.

Mr. Dorsch dons that characteristic look when he prepares to investigate.

Experts Find Their Lifework in Students

Another major shift in the guidance staff occurred with the addition of four new members. Only Mrs. Opal Lloyd, E.C. girls' counselor, and Mrs. Irene Bennett, school nurse, were familiar faces from last year. Mrs. Doshie Loyd, former English teacher, assumed the new library leadership, and Mr. Bill Stephens, former history teacher, moved to his current counseling position. Two new counselors include Mr. Larry Smith, with a B.A. in Science and a Master's of Education from Northeastern State at Tahlequah, and Mr. Jerry Zachary, with a B.A. in Physical Education and Master's of Guidance from Northeastern.

Art Often Approximates a Changing Life Style

The school art staff underwent a complete transformation this year with new art teachers, Mrs. Nancy Louvier and Mrs. Janey Harrison. Mrs. Louvier, chairman of the department, received a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree from the University of Tulsa in 1970, marking her first year of teaching at East Central. Mrs. Harrison was graduated from East Central State College with a Bachelor's Degree in Art. She also teaches Physical Education.

Mrs. Harrison demonstrates some art form and modeling techniques.

Art is considered one of the most popular subjects among Cardinals for two reasons: it is an elective, and students find it relative to their own life style. Favorite projects include drawing, line and form, astrology posters, papier mache heads, and pop and op art. One of the hardest things for a beginning student to do is to let go his own feelings, for he is free to follow his own interests within the framework of the art curriculum. Advanced students develop creativity to its highest degree; many compete in local art shows.

JoAnn Burnley

Shirley Dalton
Camille Wean

Headed by Mrs. Lucy Spear, the Homemaking Department expanded to four full time teachers this year. Mrs. Spear teaches a wide range of Clothing I, II, and III. Mrs. Shirley Dalton teaches four classes of Foods I and a class of Foods II. She is also a co-sponsor of Future Homemakers of America, an organization which is closely related to good cookery. Mrs. JoAnn Burnley, also co-sponsor of F.H.A., teaches three classes of Foods I, Foods II, and the highly advanced Foods II and III class. Mrs. Camille Wean assumed a full time home economics assignment this year. She teaches two classes of Clothing I, two classes of Home Living and Family Economics, and one class of House and Home Management, related to smooth home operations.

"The form of fashion," mulls Barbara Enix wondering at the mini-midi battle.

"Mmm...mmm...mmm," is a familiar sound when a pleasant aroma from our home economics department winds through the halls of East Central. But the preparation of food is only a small portion of the home economics program. Students learn how to manage money and the importance of wise shopping. This includes studying the characteristics of quality meat, the buying of ready-made clothes, and the importance of budgeting an income skillfully. Another aspect of the program is home planning. Future homemakers make floor plans and determine a decorating scheme. Sewing provides still another side of the curriculum. Girls are taught the necessary techniques along with fashion about styles and fabrics. These programs offer rounded background in the skills needed for home

Linda Cohea knows her way around a kitchen. Here she mixes a casserole dish, great for saving money.

Another sure way to economy is by making your own clothing. Becky Wyatt is shown cutting a pattern.

Business Experience Can Point

Mr. Lefler, an expert in his own right, utilizes an adding machine.

Seven teachers meet demands of East Central's Business Education department, under the supervision of Mrs. Ernestine Pierce, chairman. New to the department this year is Mrs. Valdene Sands, Basic Business and Bookkeeping teacher, who formerly taught at Central High School. She received a B.S. Degree in Education from Southeastern State in Durant, and a Master's of Business Education from the University of Oklahoma. The faculty covers a wide array of business subjects in typewriting, notehand, shorthand, transcription, office machines, basic business, business law, business math and records, and general office education. All classes lead to future jobs.

Toward A Lifetime Career

The next generation of office workers is forming, as students learn to type in conjunction with taped lessons.

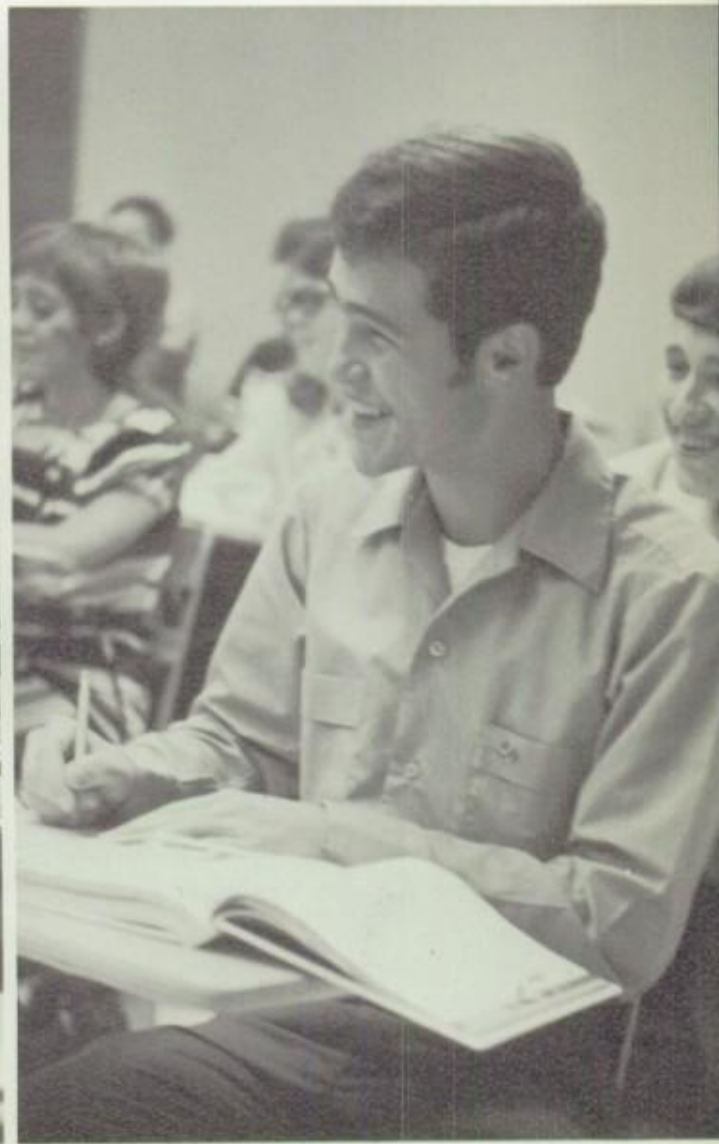

"a-q-a-z...Return carriage...repeat." Taped drills such as this are familiar sounds in the business department, as students find many classes practical, since the knowledge can be used for personal use at home or on a job. East Central students are offered a variety of classes. Most students are familiar with typing, shorthand, and transcription, but not all realize that basic business offers a study of insurance policies, contracts, leases, savings, investments and interest rates. Business Law studies problems and cases related to everyday living. Business Math and Records explores banking procedures, income tax forms and trade and cash discounts. Office Machines includes the study of adding machines, calculating, bank posting, and bookkeeping machines. Bookkeeping helps understand social security and pension plans, while General Office Education covers concepts from office skills to office etiquette, an aid for future success.

Mrs. Sands' Basic Business students learn fundamentals of office work.

The largest department now at East Central is the English staff with 13 teachers, whose activities are coordinated by Mrs. Jewell Hilderbrand, chairman. New additions this year include Mrs. Myrna Campbell, B.S. in Education, Oklahoma State University; Miss Susan Clabaugh, B.A. in English, Oklahoma State University; and Mrs. Jackie O'Bar, B.S. in English, University of Tulsa. The staff covers variant phases of literature in American, English, and World areas, offers an independent study laboratory, provides specialized reading courses, and the highly skilled P5 "Quest" groups, under Mrs. Hilderbrand.

Depends on Mastery of English

"To be, or not to be; that is the question..." And if students question why they study English, like the famous Hamlet quote above, the answer is four important reasons: the arts of reading, writing, listening, and speaking well. Mastery of these skills enables us to communicate in this madcap world of now. Some various ways to accomplish this are: the study of great literature, vocabulary work, grammar and composition, note taking, and discussions. Students enjoy learning through films, records, tapes, and other audio-visual media. Contemporary poets, playwrights, and their expanding points of view are emphasized whenever possible, although the best of the classics are studied to safeguard them for future generations.

The scenes below are typical of language activities. Miss Stuart begins a classroom discussion, while Mrs. Lane's students pore over book reports. Peggy Gum, Debbie Larson, and Joni James are active in World Lit.

With her ready smile, Mrs. Jewell Hilderbrand guides the English department in modern methods.

Foreign Languages Draw the Life Patterns

Patti Dyer
Robert Owen

Mary Johnson
Florence Schupbach

Another manifestation of East Central's growth is reflected in the Foreign Language Department, which now has five language teachers, headed by Mrs. Florence Schupbach, chairman. New to the department this year in fulltime capacity as a Spanish instructor is Mrs. Patti Dyer, who has also taught English here at East Central. Also new is Miss Mary Johnson, with a B.A. in French Education from the University of Oklahoma, who teaches five classes of French, from beginning to third year. Mr. Robert Owen teaches four classes of German and is also teaching one class of U.S. History. Mrs. Florence Schupbach, now in her tenth year at East Central as teacher and department chairman, offers the study of Spanish through the fourth year. Mrs. Virginia Erbert, whose picture is found in the Music department, also teaches one French class.

Mike Ransom and Mr. Owen discuss the pictorial beauty of Switzerland's famous Matterhorn mountain.

And Customs of Others to Our Understanding

Listening and repeating are the clues to Spanish diction says Mrs. Schupbach.

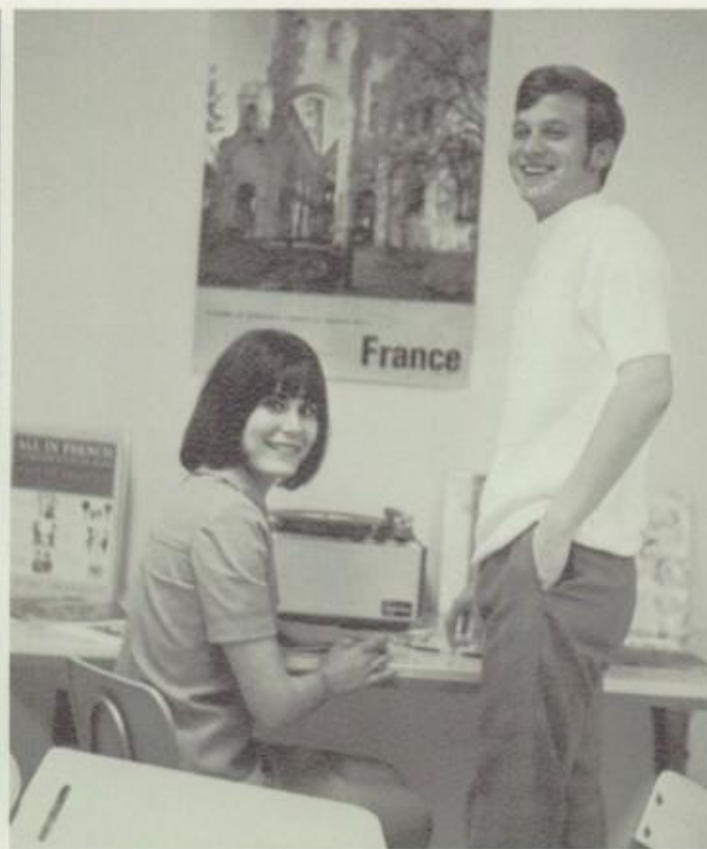

"Uno, dos, tres..." are familiar sounds to foreign language students taking Spanish this year. Students of other foreign language classes also learn to count and communicate in languages of their choice. Drills on pronunciation, tapes of foreign speakers actually speaking the language and constant practice of repeating or mimicking their teachers are helpful devices which help the student become more fluent in speaking the language. East Central foreign language students enjoy seeing films which help the student to become better acquainted with the language and the people he is studying. Advanced language classes read plays, study novels, and write compositions all in the language itself. All students enjoy singing and playing games in the language because it helps bring it closer to the student, who feels a need for familiarity.

Mary Dawn and Terry Spiker learn French accents through language lab.

Mrs. Dyer uses visual aids whenever possible in her Spanish classes.

Dana Dearman and Ashley Talton, French students, enjoy languages.

Larry Lees, Chanda Bobbitt, Mike Campbell, and Mark Smith study German by listening to tapes.

Deadlines and good writing are hard to get together. Students learn to write with the 5 "W's" of journalistic style and how to avoid personal opinion when dealing with a news story. Students also write for the Tulsa World and Southeast News.

. . . Speech Training Preview A Life in Public

Under the direction of Mrs. Norma Davis, Speech students learn the techniques of public speaking and self expression which are important to communication in today's fast-moving world. Extremely active in her field, Mrs. Davis teaches Speech I, II, and III, serves as East Central's assembly coordinator, directs school plays, and sponsors the E.C. Thespian troop. Students study diction, the fundamentals of acting and staging, and learn to write and present speeches.

Musicians Capture a Life of 'Rock 'n 'Rhythm'

Virginia Erbert

Dennis Kelliher

Well established in the success of East Central's music department are Mrs. Virginia Erbert, choral director, and Mr. Dennis Kelliher, band director. Both instructors have been with the school for several years and have guided music students to outstanding honors and careers. They are also active in Tulsa community music affairs. Vocal music students may choose such classes as Concert Chorus, Mixed Chorus, or Girls' Glee Club, with their participation in the annual state music contests as the highlight of the year. They also compete with other Tulsa high schools in the annual Christmas Messiah. Instrumental music students find outlets in such classes as Marching Band, P3 and P4 band, Ensemble and Orchestra. Students participate in parades and other public performances, with the year culminating in the election of the Band Queen and the annual spring concert.

Learning Plus Lifesavers Add Up To

The goals of the Industrial and Vocational Educational Department are to provide students with both the opportunity to explore various vocational fields and the industrial equipment to test their interests with. Headed by Mr. Don Randolph, chairman and drafting instructor, the staff also includes Mrs. Margaret Byrd, Distributive Education, Mr. John Dial, Power Mechanics, Mr. Jimmie Johns, Woodwork, and Mr. Duane Selvey, Machine Shop and Aviation Instructor. Mr. Weldon Childress teaches six classes of Driver Education. Instructors stress safety as well as competence when the students work with the highly technical equipment which the department possesses.

West wing activities, ranging from job experimentation to on-the-job training, are considered by students to be the most practical, the classes being now-oriented instead of future-oriented. Students are free to experiment in various job areas, using modern equipment, while Distributive Education students may work two hours or more a day on jobs off campus, receiving both credit and cash for their time. Power Mechanics students learn the fundamentals of internal combustion operations; those in Machine Shop operate such basic machines as lathe, drill press, metal cutting saws, and milling machines. Woods courses offer such end results as bookcases, desks, and headboards; Drafting students draw structural plans to scale.

Sum Up the Essence of the Universe

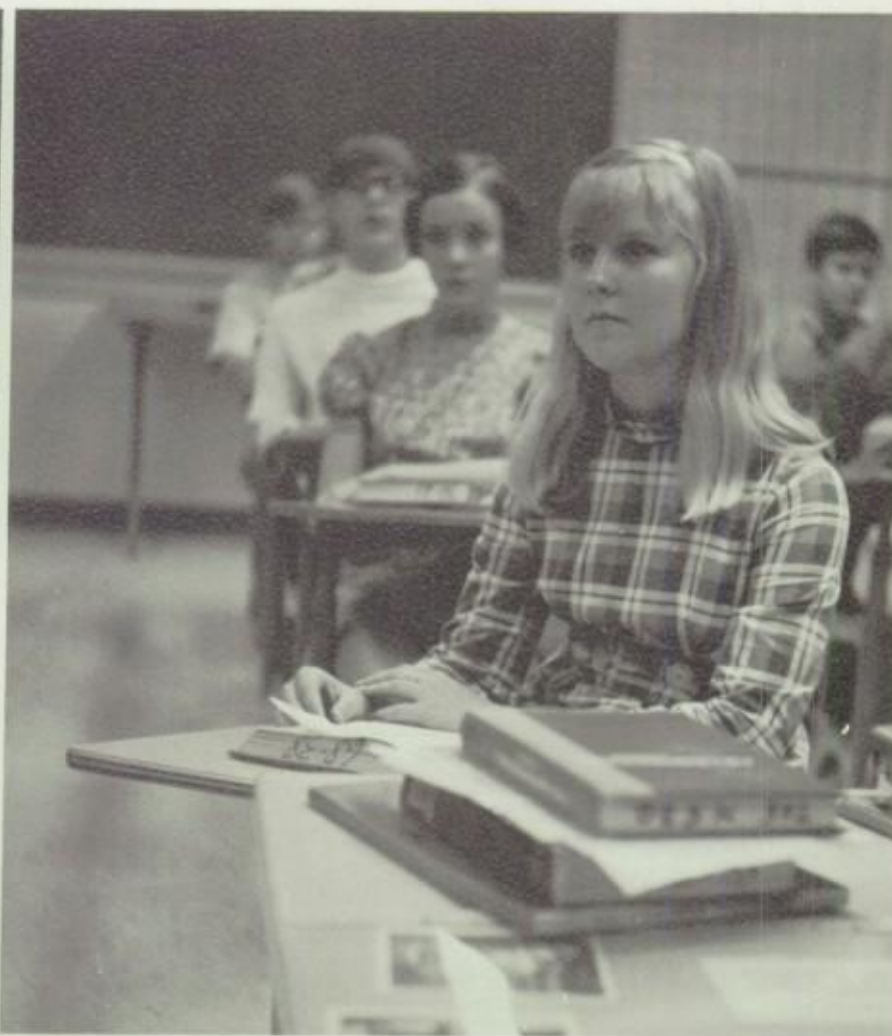

Trigonometry without a slide rule would be like East Central without students, or so Alan Wright's expression seems to indicate.

A five member mathematics staff, headed by Mr. Ed McCray, chairman, offers a wide range of general and specialized mathematics classes, from Basic Math to Trigonometry. The faculty members include Mr. Rod Bridges, Mrs. Lavenia Daniels, Mr. Lawrence Peck, Mr. Luther Younger, and Mr. McCray. " $d=rt$, $a^2+b^2=$ wow!" These and other equations prove to be helpful in everyday mathematics classes. Students enjoy working with unknown elements, and mathematics offers East Central students a challenge as infinite as the universe itself. Courses from Basic Math to Math Analysis provide interest on levels that are desirable in today's technological society. Being college preparatory and by the cumulative nature of the course, mathematics involves a certain amount of time required for daily study. The development of self-discipline is acquired and self-satisfaction is inevitable.

With the exception of one or two, Mr. McCray's students take their math problems seriously.

All of the vision and mystery of mathematics can be found in certain students - here, in Linda Kerbo.

Health Education Classes Bring a Life of Key personnel to the Physical Education department are, left to right, Mrs. Pat Holder, Mrs. Janey Harrison, Mr. Eddie Dyer, and Mr. Gerald Clark in athletic offices.

Gerald Clark

Eddie Dyer

A new addition to East Central's physical education department brings the teaching staff to four members this year, directed by Mr. Eddie Dyer, department chairman. Mrs. Janey Harrison, whose picture is listed with the Art Department, has relieved the growing school's overload by teaching two girls' physical education classes. The teaching staff includes Mr. Gerald Clark, Mrs. Pat Holder, Mr. Dyer and Mrs. Harrison. The variety which is offered in the physical education department provides for development of diversified teaching skills. East Central students find these courses both stimulating and challenging.

Physical and Mental Fitness "All Together"

Athletic programs include both indoor and outdoor activities as shown by the football game, left, and Rob Silver lifting weights in the photo below.

Jan Hawkins cuts a locker room caper.

The limits of the human body never cease to surprise and fascinate East Central students. The fundamentals and skills provide relaxation and pleasure. E.C. takes pride in its sports program for boys and girls.

Mr. Pat Ward, chemistry teacher and chairman of the Science department, has welcomed two new teachers to his six member teaching staff. Mr. George Hall, with a Master's of Education from the University of Missouri and 30 years' teaching experience, has taken over Earth Science, Physics, and Chemistry classes, while Mrs. Penny Thomas, with a Bachelor of Science in Education, is instructing Biology classes. Other faculty members include Mr. Rodney Goodsell, Biology, Mr. Max Matheson, Physiology and Biology, and Mrs. Myrtle Rollerson, Physical Science and Biology.

Mr. Goodsell demonstrates the microscopic powers of science equipment.

Mr. Matheson is shown in a characteristic mood, ready for class roll call.

May Be Probed in Science Experiments

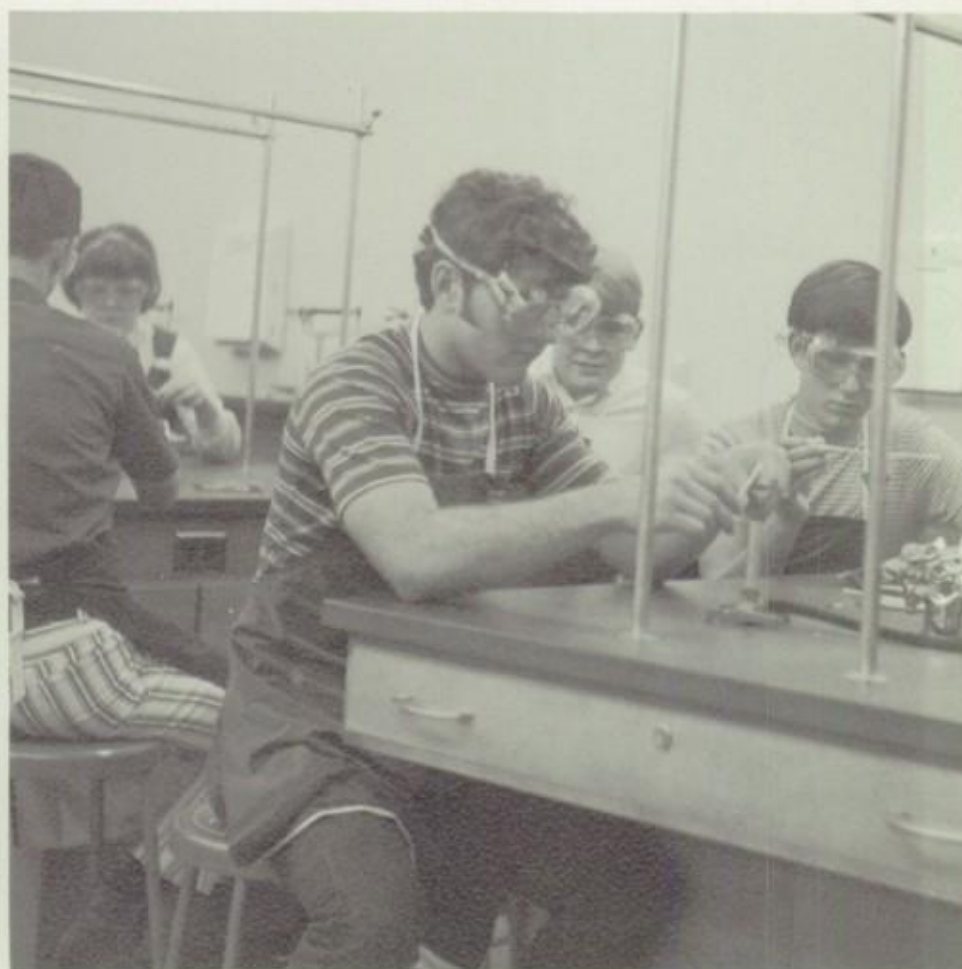

Maps and biology books help Pam Geiger and Mark Madison learn.

"If you don't keep caught up, it will snowball you." Translated from Mr. Ward, this means that all science students must apply daily their learnings from last week to the concepts they may encounter next week, or the rest of their lives. Science classes are designed primarily for students to gain knowledge through the avenues of experimentation and observation. Studies range from dissections on plants and animals to the more abstract study of particles of atomic structure. Each student must adhere to rigid safety rules, while experimenting - goggles, aprons, test tube clamps, spatulas, all equipment which contributes to the total safety and success of experiments.

Mrs. Millier seems inclined to agree with her students on pertinent trends of U.S. History.

Another major department at East Central is the eleven member Social Studies staff, headed by Mr. O. D. Bell, chairman. New members this year include Mr. Ronald Bloom, who formerly has taught science at the school; Miss Susan Jones, with a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and Bachelor of Science in Social Studies Education from the University of Tulsa; Mr. Harvey McDaniel, with a Bachelor's of Science and Master's of Teaching Arts from Northeastern State at Tahlequah; and Mr. Bob Smith, with a Bachelor of Science in Education from Tahlequah. Also included in the department, but whose pictures are shown in other areas, are Mr. Eddie Dyer and Mr. Robert Owen.

Into The Living Cycles of History

The history lab has a lot to offer for students who prefer to explore their own answers to social problems.

"Four score and seven years ago..." brings back thoughtful memories of history classes past to students. Social Studies classes, however, not only study the past; they study the present and make the past relevant to the present. Students take on many projects in social studies classes and find that the history lab, study guides, and films are helpful devices which make their chores much easier. Guest speakers are often invited to speak to students and provide a stimulus to the student on provocative subjects. Discussion groups, survey polls, current event topics, and special group projects all help the student discover what is going on around him. Government classes this year gave a program for Earth Day and planned to attend a naturalization ceremony downtown. East Central offers courses ranging from ancient and medieval to those of modern government and economics.

Stagecraft, Instructional Media Specialists

Randall Blair

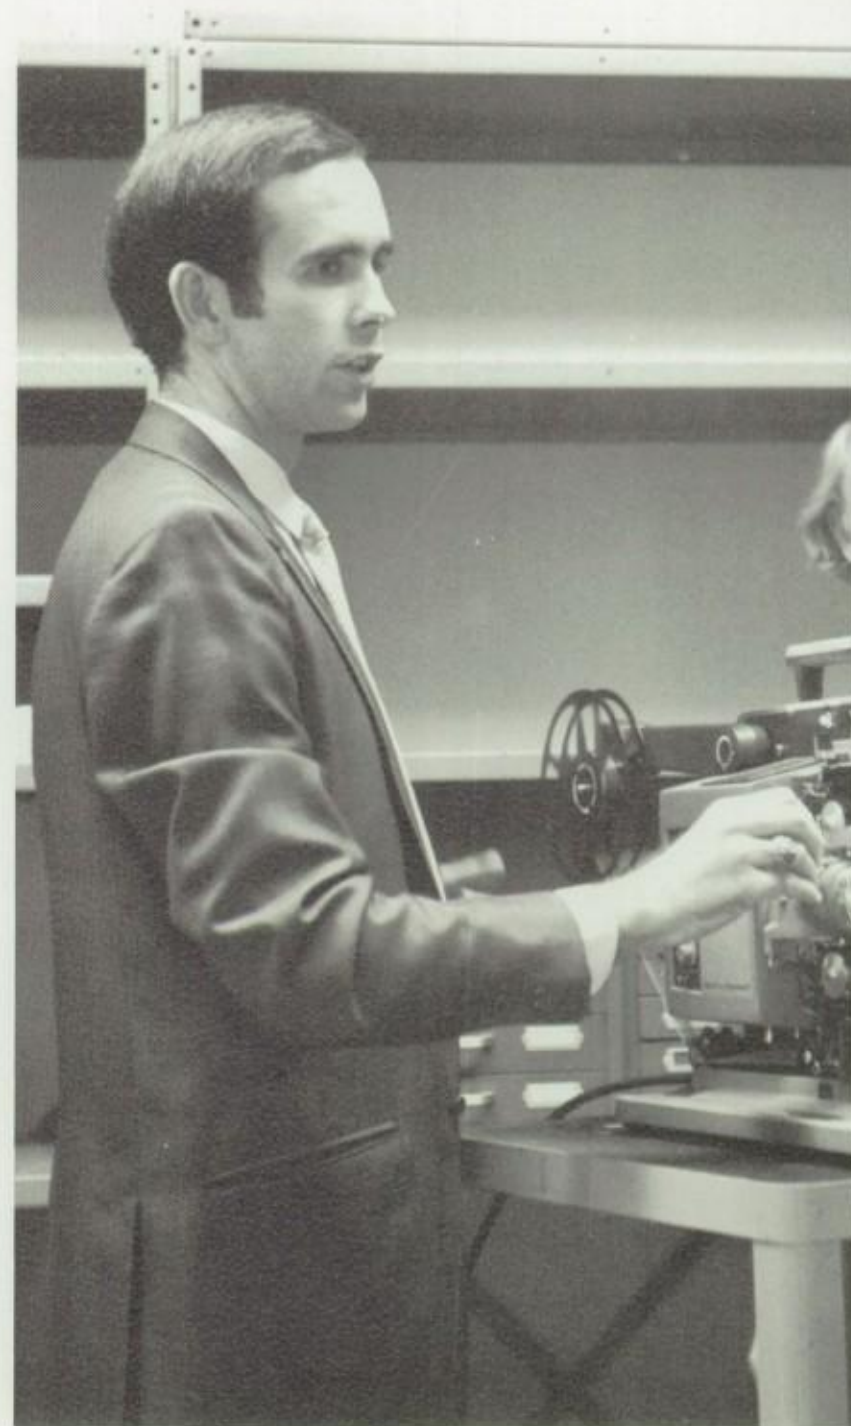

Merle Jacobs

"Hey, that tree looks a little crooked...Mrs. Garrett needs an operator third hour...Mrs. Daniels requested..." Stagecraft and instructional media students find their services much in demand to serve the needs of a busy school. The stagecraft crew controls all technical aspects of plays, assemblies, or coronation festivities which deal with scene design, electricity, color, form and lighting. Students must build, paint, and learn to operate scenery-combined experiences which instill a sense of drama and contribute to artistic and mechanical skills. Instructional media students show films in English and History lab sessions, operate film strips and generally assist Mr. Jacobs, who in turn aids teachers in special classroom presentations.

Seeking a sense of backstage drama, the photographer posed Mr. Blair on a stagecraft ladder.

East Central's stagecraft and instructional media departments are manned by Mr. Randall Blair and Mr. Merle Jacobs. Mr. Blair teaches four classes of Stagecraft, as well as an American Literature class. He directs the settings and lighting for all plays and stage productions and directed the junior play, "I Remember Mama." Mr. Jacobs, a newcomer this year, is East Central's first instructional media specialist. He received a Bachelor of Arts in Education at Southeastern at Durant and a Master's of Education at the University of Oklahoma. While attending O.U., he served as graduate assistant in the Instructional Media Department, College of Education. He is recognized as being the first to receive certification for Instructional Media Specialist in Oklahoma.

Mr. Jacobs, realizing that films are vital to enrichment of studies, spends a lot of time training teachers and student aids.

And Office Staff Make School Life Easier

With a full time schedule in the new wing this year, the myriad of responsibilities that face East Central's office staff would seem "unreal" to a casual observer. New personnel, Mrs. Selma Bear and Mrs. Pat DeBoard, were added to help with attendance and records. Other staff members include: Mrs. Norma Briscoe, Attendance Clerk; Mrs. Dorothy Clampitt, Library-Audio Visual Clerk; Mrs. Virginia Dipboye, Publications Clerk; Mrs. Paula Gallier, Treasurer; Mrs. Mary Laughlin, Receptionist; Mrs. Pam Moore, Registrar; Mrs. Ethel Thompson, Bookstore Clerk; and Mrs. Jan White, Secretary to the Principal.

Service Groups Make School Living "Homey"

"You've got two minutes", PTA prexy Virginia McManus tells the photographer just before she and Duane Selvey begin "Back to School" night.

Home cooking...shining rooms...help from Mom...and all of a sudden life around East Central takes on more aspects of home and comfort than what any average student might realize at first glance. Mrs. Mildred McNeill and her staff of cafeteria workers keep three lunch lines going daily from 11:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Mr. Robert Sneed and the custodial staff keep the building clean and operating properly on a 24-hour basis. East Central's Quarterback Club and P.T.A. work tirelessly to help the school's students and professional staff function together efficiently and harmoniously. In the pictures left to right are the cafeteria staff, the custodial day staff, and highlights of the annual "Back to School" night, sponsored by the East Central P.T.A. in September.

Journalism Literary Talents Back School Interests

Mrs. Janet Armstrong, sponsor, looks over copy that has been submitted.

The literary talents of many students are combined to contribute to Tulsa School Life and produce the Cardinal Quill, East Central's own school paper. Meeting deadlines, covering news events, and writing interesting features are only a few of the things that keep journalism students busy. In addition to working for these papers, many students find time for outside journalism activities. Susan Boyd and Brenda Crawford write for Southeast News. Brenda also is East Central's Tulsa World youth correspondent. School Life is headed by David Cole, with Susan Boyd as Co-editor. Mrs. Jan Armstrong serves as advisor.

Dave Carter announces the arrival of the school newspaper.

Cardinal Yearbook Achieves Honors In Competition

Members of this group are responsible for the "Participation" section.

Producing a yearbook that will best represent their school is the goal of the yearbook staff. To do this the staff is divided into four groups. Each group is responsible for producing a section that will meet the high standards of the rest of the book. Writing copy, headlines, cutlines, and putting pictures in their proper places are only a few of the things that are involved in making an award winning yearbook. The Cardinal staff, under the direction of Mrs. Janet Armstrong, and editor and co-editor, Denese Miles and Cindy Dipboye, work to serve the entire school. Staff photographers are Roger Stokes and G. K. Griffin.

The Elite section and photographers express opinion of unorthodox cut.

This group handles the sophomore, junior, and senior classes section.

Pat, Joey, and Cindy design the layouts for the sport section.

Future doctors, nurses, lab technicians, and medical assistants are among the variety of people who are members of East Central's medical club. The club, under the direction of Mrs. Myrtle Rollerson, is designed to promote interest in medicine and its related fields. Members are planning to recruit guest speakers and take field trips to area hospitals. The official representative of the club is president Susan Cross. Vice-president is Jim Busenbark; treasurer, Janet LeMoine; secretary, Cindy Dipboye; President-elect, Peggy Gum; and executive secretary, Andy Hendrickson. These officers plan club participation in related activities.

Chess Games Introduced at Mu Alpha Theta Meetings

Trigonometry, Analytics, and Geometry play important parts in the make-up of Mu Alpha Theta. Sponsors Mrs. Daniels and Mr. Peck prepare club members for future involvement in the field of computation. Along with the serious side of Mu Alpha Theta is the enjoyment. The members work different types of math problems for the challenge involved; they play intricate games of chess, watch films explaining the purpose of computers, and make preparations for taking the National Math Test. Mu Alpha Theta members try to discover not only the educational uses of math, but the uses of math in everyday life.

Hablá español? East Central's only Spanish club "El Circulo Español" works to give students enrolled in Spanish an insight into that country. At the club's meetings students have an opportunity to practice Spanish and speak with visitors from various Spanish speaking countries. Members perform skits and sing songs. Their study of Spanish speaking minorities in the United States has led them to show concern by sending a Christmas basket to a Mexican migrant family. The club members then celebrate Christmas with their annual piñata party. Dinner at a Mexican restaurant is always a highlight of the year.

Spanish II sponsors, Mrs. Schupbach and Mrs. Dyer, pose with officers.

A.F.S. Delves Into Life in Foreign Places

This Year's A.F.S. officers are Carolyn, Jan, Cindy, and Terri.

Different cultures and ways of life are among the topics that American Field Service members discuss at monthly meetings. East Central members work toward the national A.F.S. goal to promote world peace and understanding. Members also work to make East Central's A.F.S. student, Chris Glenn, feel at home in a strange land. Any student that shows a definite interest in the American Field Service may participate in their activities. The annual Christmas party, picnic, and school assembly are only a few of the activities that allow involvement in the program. Mr. Robert Owen is the club's sponsor for the second consecutive year.

Mr. Owen discusses future plans with Kristy Wallisch and Corey Ehlen.

From Swaziland, Africa, to Tulsa, Oklahoma was not a difficult change for East Central's foreign exchange student, Chris Glen. Chris is living with the C. Talton family. Chris, who has four brothers and sisters, was well informed of the American way of life before he came here. His oldest brother was also an exchange student. "I like to watch your American football", was one of Chris' first remarks after arriving here. Chris, who can be seen painting the Cardinal nest, attending sporting events, and participating in other school related activities, has been taken in by E.C. students as a fellow Cardinal.

Chris helps Ashley in the American tradition of decorating the tree.

Chris looks back on his year at East Central as one to remember.

Chris Blends Into Cardinal Atmosphere With Ease

Chris and his American brother Ashley take a stroll before classtime.

Future A.F.S. involvement is discussed by Chris and Mr. R. Owen.

Chris contemplates the day's activities in the Cardinals Nest.

Student Council Introduces New Recreation Room

The Student Council, acting as the student's voice, is very active at East Central. The Cardinal Nest, the new recreation room, has been a major project of the Student Council. They also sponsored Boy and Girl of the Month voting, the Christmas dance, and A.F.S. candy sales, which will enable E.C. to again host a young person from abroad. Members set up a fund for Wichita State University, the school that lost nearly their entire football team. Sponsoring Spirit Week, selling school directories, and presenting a set of encyclopedias to the school library are only a few of the many services that members perform for their school.

"Candy sales have gone to Jim Ethington's head," says Susie Hartman.

Student Council promotes school spirit by decorating the tree.

Adopting Family for Christmas Proves Fun for NHS.

Stimulating scholarship, constructive leadership, and purposeful service of students in secondary schools are the goals of the National Honor Society. Sponsored by Mrs. Doshie Lloyd, the National Honor Society has again succeeded in enlarging its membership. This 127 students meet the grade point requirement of 3.5 for juniors, and 3.25 for seniors. Annual events include the initiation of new members, the student vs. faculty basketball game, and meetings in which guest speakers from various colleges attend. Along with the regular activities, this year NHS is adopting a needy family during the Christmas season.

Singing is fun. Fun is singing. The Choral Department, under the Direction of Mrs. Erbert, provides opportunities to develop students' musical abilities. The four choral classes are Concert Chorus, Advance Mixed Chorus, Mixed Chorus, and Girls' Glee Club. This year the Choral Parents and students worked together in a new, successful, fund-raising project. The project included selling citrus fruit. The profits enabled the Choral Department to buy a stereo-tape recorder and new music. The profits from the continuation for the fruit sales will help the Chorus to take various tours.

Unity and harmony are the ingredients for a successful program.

Mrs. Erbert and the Concert Chorus practice for future performances.

Soloist are Rondetta Conatzer, Bill Boyer, Jana Kinslow, and Tim Brown.

Marching Band Attains Place of Prominence

Band officers, Wally Hartman, Charles Thompson and Rick Lambrecht provide the leadership necessary in such a large organization.

"We proudly present the East Central Marching Band" rings the voice of band announcer, James Vance.

Displaying their skill in musical and marching precision, the Cardinal Marching Band prepared impressive half-time and pre-game shows at the East Central football games. The importance of the marching band is reflected in almost every aspect of school life at E.C. and their near perfect performances are to be commended by all. Enhancing the Cardinal Marching Band is drum major Larry Lees, because of his commanding nature, dependability, and willingness to accept the responsibility of leading the band. He is considered an asset to performances and his endeavors deserve much recognition. The band is under the direction of Mr. Dennis Kelliher.

Majorettes Ignite Batons for Fire Rope Jump

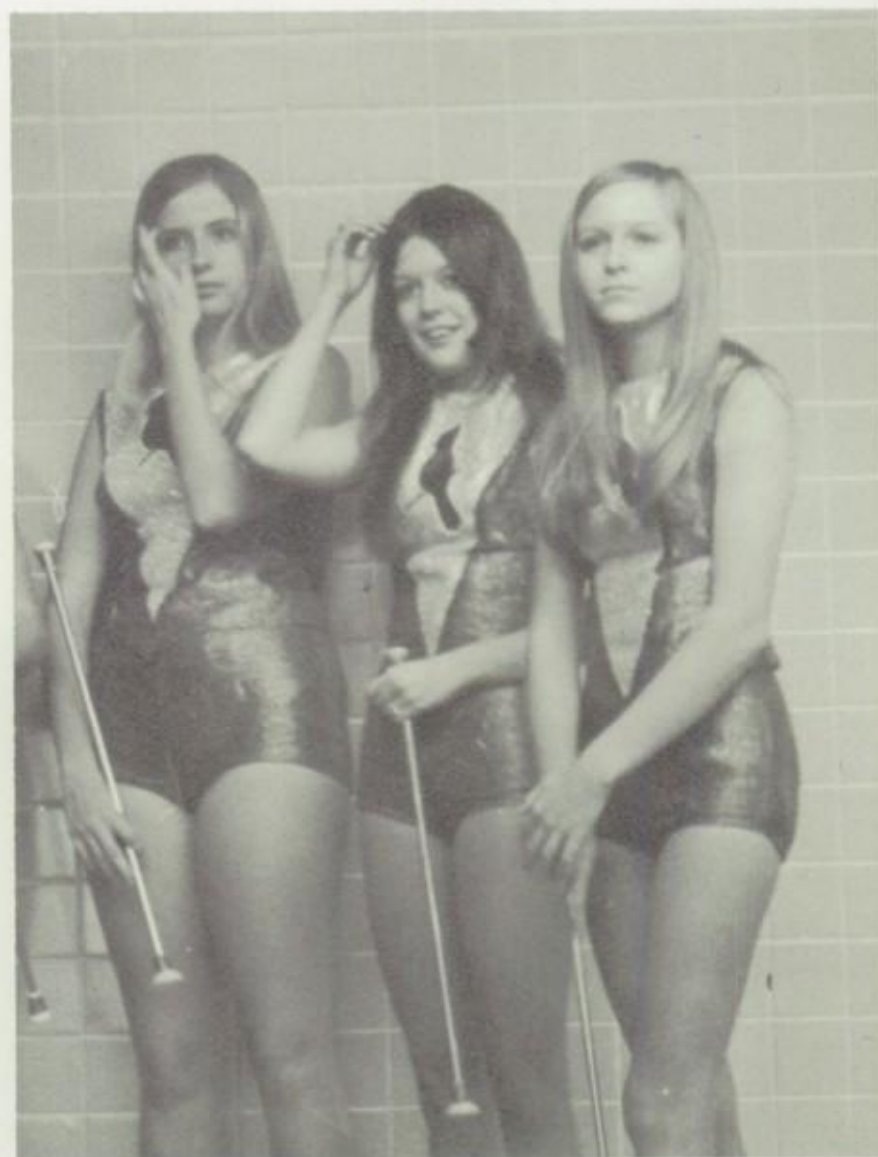

First Row: Cathy Lewis, Patty Ehlen, Dianne Holder, Sherry Rickner, Jolene Foley.

"Blazing glory" is a fitting description of the East Central 1971 Majorettes. The head majorette and only senior is Dianna Holder. Majorettes in training are Jolene Foley, junior; Patty Ehlen, Cathy Lewis, and Sherry Rickner, sophomores. They begin practicing together in July for four hours a day. When school begins, their practices are cut down to two hours a day. Their routines consist of marching, dancing, twirling machetes, hoops, fire batons, and jumping fire ropes. The five girls are wearing new uniforms, of black velvet trimmed in red sequins and black ponchos trimmed in red, which Dianna Holder designed.

Majorettes Sherry, Cathy, and Patty proudly represent sophomore class.

Year Round Concerts Provide Enjoyment

Mr. Kelliher directs band to honor Miss East Central V.

Trumpets, drums, violins and other instruments are often heard reverberating through the halls of E.C. Cardinal band members present the annual Christmas Concert, Band Queen Coronation, and Spring Concert as school activities. The Pep Band directed by Bill Kunze, is an important factor in promoting school spirit. They participate in the annual Tulsa District Music Contest and have always represented their school in a manner exemplifying true Cardinal enthusiasm. Band captain, Charlie Thompson, along with Wally Hartman and Rick Lambrecht his assistants share the duties of directing band activities.

Pep Club Sparks Explosion of Cardinal Enthusiasm

Pep Club officers are: Becky, Jennifer, Dianne, Glenna, and Cheri.

Leslie Pharr demonstrates school spirit as the Cardinal mascot.

"Cardinals are the greatest" might well describe the attitude of East Central's Pep Club. At E.C. football games and all athletic events, the players are often spurred on to victory by this enthusiastic club. Members sponsor the Howdy dance, meet to decorate the halls with signs, sell spirit ribbons to homerooms, preside at pep rallies, and help with the Quarterback Club drive. In short, they are responsible for keeping East Central students injected with a shot of spirit and pride of school. The only requirement for becoming a member of the club is a loud, enduring voice. Mrs. Pat Holder is again sponsor of the Pep Club.

First Row: Becky Groves, Glenna Clapp, Dianne Cook, Leslie Pharr, Susan Franks, Jennifer Salyers, Cheri Chaney. Cheerleaders Inject Cards With Spirit

Cardinals are full of spirit this year, led by our eight enthusiastic cheerleaders. Last summer they went to the Oklahoma University to compete. They learned new cheers and chants to teach all the loyal Cards. In addition to leading cheers at games, the cheerleaders make spirit signs for the halls, conduct the pep assemblies and the B-squad clinic. The captain of the team is Leslie Blevins and co-captain, Jan West. The other members are Marsha Hartsell, Mindy West, Mary Beth Stewart, Cindy Lott, Debi Edington, and Debbie Daniels. Leslie Pharr adds alot of pep to the spirit makers as she and her alternate Raymon Brown, portray the Cardinal Bird. Mrs. Pat Holder is the sponsor.

DECA Participates in State Leadership Conference

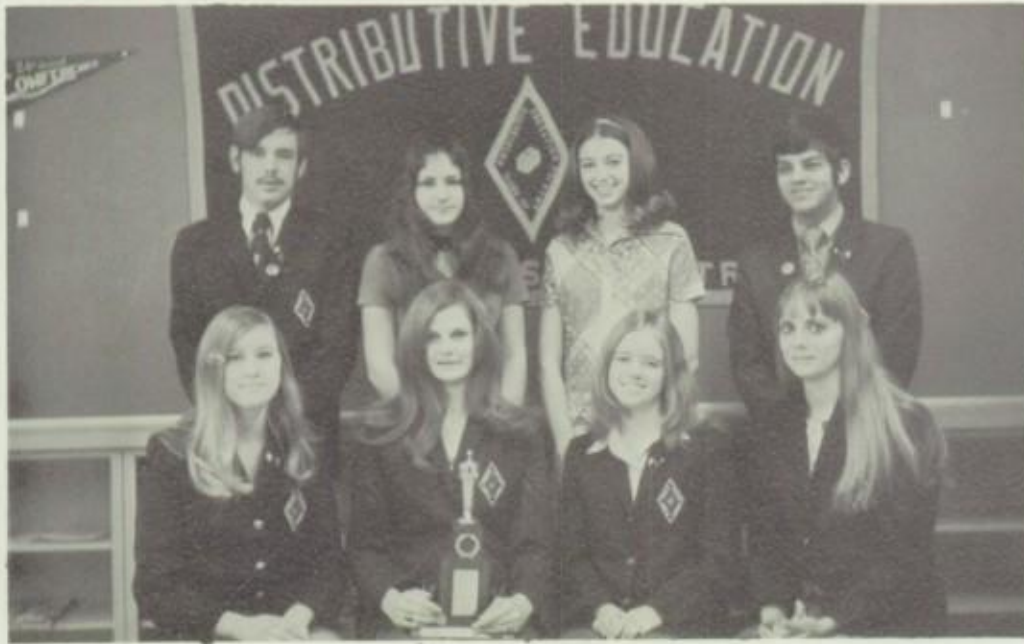

Mrs. Byrd, sponsor, and Jim Johnson find D.E.C.A. enjoyable and rewarding.

DECA is an organization designed for applying principles taught in Distributive Education classes. Members better themselves in the business world by participating in marketing, merchandising, and management. The club assist with civic activities such as the March of Dimes, constructing a float for Tulsa's Christmas Parade, television appearances, and making radio announcements. The most important activity is the State Leadership Conference held in Oklahoma City during March, National DECA month. Winners from all over the state pool their talents to compete in the National DECA Leadership Conference which is held during April.

East Central isn't really being invaded by a group of mermaids. It just seems that way when the Catalinas present their annual show. East Central's synchronized swim club works long hard hours after school from September to April in preparing for their debut. Each member must develop skills which are both intricate and meaningful. The show is composed of scenes which represent the theme for this year, "The Games People Play." Experienced members must write and direct the various numbers. Swimmers are under the watchful eye of Mrs. Pat Holder, club sponsor. The show is presented April 1, 2, and 3.

Catalina officers are: Polly, Debbie, Debi, Valinda, and Mindy.

FCA Launches Spiritual Revolution Across America

Mike holds newly awarded trophy as FCA members look on.

Athletes set aside gear of the playing field to examine a spiritual uniform in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. This organization, sponsored by Roger Lefler and co-sponsor Rod Goodsell, is part of a spiritual revolution that is sweeping the sports world. Players freely express themselves about problems that confront them daily. Their sponsors actually work with an honest introspection of commitment. The East Central huddle group is the largest in the state. They are active in all forms of community work. Last summer East Central was represented by 30 athletes at the National Conference in Ft. Collins, Colorado.

"Participation" In Junior Red Cross

Officers learn medical techniques.

Cindy, Ray, and Barbara study diligently.

Through the Junior Red Cross, students can experience the good feeling which comes with helping less fortunate ones. The first Red Cross meeting, held early in October, showed the enthusiasm of the fifty homeroom and alternate representatives. "This," said sponsor Mrs. Adams, "is a wonderful and exciting improvement." The club's goal this year is to offer opportunity for students to participate in activities which can develop useful skills, promote good mental and physical health, and train students to be good citizens. Officers this year are Mark Elich, Bill Hendricks, Cindy Lott, and Karen Pope.

Members find pleasure in their work.

"What do you think of pollution?" That might be the subject matter of a discussion in a debate club meeting. The club is in its first year at E.C., under the direction of Mr. Wesley White. The club was designed to encourage members to become interested in current events and world issues. It is also a way of teaching the procedures of debating. The club's newly elected officers are: President Kevin Chambers, Vice-president Sam Richey, and Secretary-treasurer Jolene Foley. The members hope to be advanced enough in their debates to participate at the end of the year in debate tournaments with other high school.

Methods of Film Making Discovered in New E.C. Club

The E.C. film club is another newly established club. Mr. Robert Owen is the faculty sponsor. The purpose of the film club is to experiment in still photography, and sound filming. They plan to produce a documentary on the "youth scene" in Tulsa. It will concern the attitudes of the older generation towards the younger generation and vice-versa. The club gets their equipment from various sources. They plan to start a fund in order to rent or buy equipment and supplies. The club's officers are: President James Vance, Vice-president Peggi Allison, Treasurer Mike Muirheid, and Secretary Roger Smith.

Key Club Members Work for Community Involvement

Key Club Sweetheart: Miss Cindy Wayt

Key club members elected their first Sweetheart, Miss Cindy Wayt.

"Get involved" are the correct words for Key Club's "Personal Action-Prelude to Progress" this year. Sponsored by the Southeast Kiwanas and Jim Smittle, the club got involved with youngsters of Tulsa. Their annual taking of pictures with Santa Claus and with the Easter Bunny gave the children a lasting memory, earned money to support such functions as a drug seminar, and enabled club representatives to attend the annual regional convention being held this year in Oklahoma city. They will meet with Texas, their regional partner, and discuss the future club activities, and future money-raising projects.

Club sponsor, Jim Smittle and officers: Eddie Adams, John Salzano, and Steve Gutierrez.

"In With Aid, Out With Apathy" Say Jr. Civitans

Officers are, seated, Rick Evans, Chris Hutchens; and standing, Bill Daniel, Mike Birkes, Mark Polumbus.

"Our club's purpose is to make better citizens and a better community in which to live," says Senior Mark Polumbus, President of Junior Civitan. Aiding Mark with the work of the club are Jimbo Elrod, Vice-president; Mike Birkes, Secretary; Chris Hutchens, Treasurer; Rick Evans, Chaplain; and the sponsor is Coach Bill Stephens. At the beginning of the year Junior Civitan collected clothes and household items for the needy families in the Shawnee District. At Thanksgiving they sent gobblers and other goodies to the needy. Other services these young men perform for our community include a collection drive for multiple sclerosis and participation in the March of Dimes. Their money-making projects for this year are fruit cake sales, sponsored by Tulsa Civitan and a dance following an athletic event.

Are you prepared for your future involvement in personal, family, and community living? East Central's chapter of Future Homemakers of America works to carry out activities related to the dual role of homemaker and wage earner. New in the club this year is the point system. A member is eligible to earn points by attending school meetings, district meetings, and by selling Snoopy dogs, their money making project of the year. The officers are President, Suzanne Noflager; Vice-president, Janet Omos; Treasurer, Cheryl Alred; Secretary, Carolyn Green; Reporter, Mary Buthod; Historian, Sharon Short; Parliamentarian, Jan Kuhn.

Art Club Activities Add Variety to School Life

Art Club members show junk from which they will make modern art.

Artistic ability anyone? East Central's art club provides activities for students interested in the pursuit of artistic knowledge. Mrs. Nancy Louvier, sponsor, along with officers, Pam King, President; Susan Coker, Viceprexy; Jeanne Buthod, Secretary; Anna Alcorn, Treasurer, coordinate talents giving members suggestive guidance to help get club activities under way. This year's activities include trips to surrounding museums, attending Oklahoma City art shows, sketch trips in the fall and spring, and attending various cultural events in Tulsa. The club holds its annual art show in the spring.

Jeanne, Anna, Mrs. Louvier, Fred and Pam are shown silk screening.

Library Club Stimulates New Desires For Learning

Students appreciate the literary help offered by Mrs. Lloyd.

All work and no play isn't good. The library provides a place to relax.

The new library is fully equipped to assist students in their studies.

When you think of the library club, do the studious intellectuals of the school come to mind? Many are, but everyone is encouraged to join. The club meets twice a month. This year the club's activities were more or less confined to the preparation of the new East Central library which the North Central committee evaluated. The library club also prepared a tea for the teachers in March. Other club activities include the managing of the bookstore. Profits are used to buy library furniture that is not covered by school funds. They also help Mrs. Lloyd, the sponsor, review new books.

Thespian Troop Brings Entertainment to E.C. Stage

Students interested in the fine arts express themselves through the Thespian Troop. This troop, which has been organized for only a year, is very active at East Central. Many Thespian members participate in assemblies and the school plays. In addition many are active in outside Theater groups, such as the Spotlight Club, and Tulsa Little Theater. Members perform many jobs besides acting. They also work backstage on costumes, props, lighting effects and scenery. At the end of the year the entire troop votes on which Thespian members have performed outstandingly. Best actor and best supporting actors are awarded.

Thespian officers are Jan Lehmer, James Vance, and Phyllis Shaull.

Susan Boyd and Mrs. Norma Davis, club sponsor, discuss club charter.

Pud: "Gramps, I need a heap o' tape."

Seniors Present Suspenseful "On Borrowed Time".

Left to right: Granny: "That boy mimics everything you do, Julian."

Actors "Pilbeam, Evans, and Grimes" take time out from rehearsal to sneak a snack and discuss the play.

Pud: "Gee Mr. Brink, you've got ghost's eyes."

Mr. Brink convinced the audience of his authenticity as a death angel.

Mr. Brink: "Man's logic is the most pitiful thing about him. It stands in his way, so that he can't quite see the giants." This was the theme that playwright Paul Osborn's lines echoed throughout the Senior Class production of "On Borrowed Time." The plot revolved around man's fear of death. When Brink comes to escort Julian Northrup's soul to his afterlife, the old man tricks the death angel and traps him in an apple tree. His grandson, Pud, is seriously injured after falling off the fence which surrounds the tree; this convinces Northrup to allow the death angel to take them. Gramps: "Where are we going?" Brink: "You'll Find out."

Pud: "Homework! Why can't I go outside and play, Gramps?"

Demetria: "I'll teach you to steal apples young man. I know just what to do with a trespasser (right).

"I Remember Mama" High-

Hyde: Tonight, "I would like to finish 'The Tale From Two Cities.'"

Papa: "Christine, she is the stubborn one."

Dagmar: "Elizabeth's a Viking cat. She fights for her honor!"

Mama: "Yes, Uncle Chris. I am right here beside you."

"But first and foremost, I remember Mama" is the last line of this year's junior class play. That one line tells the action of "I Remember Mama," a two-act play written by Jon Van Druten. It's the account of a large Swedish family living in America, and their problems trying to adjust to their new environment. The story is told as seen through the eyes of the oldest daughter, Katrin, and involves, warmth, humor, and sadness. The sets for the play were very extensive and along with the costumes, added a large part to the effectiveness of the play. This year's play was under the directions of Mr. Randall Blair, stage craft director.

Mama: "Sure. We celebrate that Dagmar is well, and coming home."

East Central's sophomore class tried something different this year by presenting three one act plays. "The Monkey's Paw," is the first in the series. Three wishes accompany the paw but each wish is granted disastrously. Terry Ballinger was the student director. "Thursday Evening" the second play, is a short comedy about a young couple who have ridiculous mother-in-law problems. Juniors David Alexander and Richard Crawford served as student directors. "American Dame," the third play, is the story of the female from Eve to the women's liberation movement. Seniors Susan Boyd and David Cole shared the responsibilities of student directing this play. Mrs. Norma Davis supervised.

Cards show great strategy in the pouring rain against Will Rogers.

New AAAA Conference

The 1970 season found the Cardinals coming off their first winning season and also facing a new conference, and a new schedule. The Indian Nation Conference was to be the best and most powerful football conference in the state with such outstanding teams as Memorial, Rogers, Hale, Enid, and Ponca City.

Game Highlights

The Cards opened their season by winning their first all city contest in eleven tries against Webster. The first season game found the Cards against the Edison Eagles, who handed East Central their first loss in six games. Next week, as the Cardinals found the winning road on the arm of Glenn Bedingfield and the legs of workhorse Terry Lunsford, the Scots lost, 21 to 6. Nathan Hale, who had over shadowed the Cards for 5 years, found themselves behind 14-7 as the clock ticked away. Soph. Les Devens' score on a 40 yd. run and Glenn Bedingfield's 50 yard pass to Mike Birks proved too much for the Hale Rangers. The 4th game of the season pitted the Cards against the defending three time State Champs, Washington. E.C.'s defense outplayed them as Chris Hutchens, Mike Pregler, Eddie Adams, Rick Evans and Jim Elrod completely stopped the 40 point per game average of the Hornets and held them to 12 points. Once again the arm of Bedingfield found his favorite receiver, Mike Birks, on passes of 85 and 60 yards. The running of Dan Brumble, Jim Segroves, Terry Lunsford, behind the blocking of Jerry MacClean, Mark Romine, Forrest Heath, Randy Smith, Mark Polumbus, Jim Shelton, proved once again the Cardinals were the Greatest, 13-12. In the next few games the Cards bowed to Enid, Memorial, and Rogers. The last game of the season against the Ponca Wildcats, the Cardinals won on the 171 yard performance of Divens, the firm passing of Bedingfield, and the receiving of Ronnie Spencer and Mike Birks, 19-12. This concluded the Cards second winning season in a row, 5-4, and a third place tie in the Indian Nation Conference. The Cardinals rolled up 2052 yards total offense and scored 113 points at an average of 5.15 yards per play.

Coach Rod Goodsell advises Junior Wingback Mike Birks during one of the many crucial moments of the seasons gridiron battles of the 4A conference.

The fighting Cardinal football team once again earned the much deserved honor of having seven of its senior members recognized as Indian Nation All-Stars. The acceptance of this award completed the final year of football for these seniors, which will always remind them of the hard-won battles they fought on the grid-iron. Guard Jim Shelton received E.C.'s only award for offensive players. Chris Hutchens, tackle, and Eddie Adams, halfback, received awards for defensive players. Receiving honorable mention were Randy Nicolas, Jerry MacLean, Rick Evans, and Jim Segroves. To honor certain outstanding players, at the end of each year, the football players themselves decide who has worked the hardest and played the best. Receiving the awards for the 1970 season are Lynn Lambert, most dedicated player; Eddie Adams, best offensive back; Chris Hutchens, best all around; Mike Pregler, best defensive lineman; and Jim Shelton, best offensive lineman of the conference year.

STATE CHAMPS

East Central's Cardinal baseball team, under Coach Rodger Lefler, finally reaped the awards of many hard years' work as they took the 1970 State Championship. The team had an overall record of 20 wins and 6 losses. Returning lettermen include Terry Neal, Lantz Day, Steve West, and Jerry McGrew. Junior Lantz Day had the highest batting average of the team—.305. Terry Neal, a starting pitcher, had 6 wins and no losses including two no-hitters. The team won the consolation championship in the Sapulpa and Memorial Tournaments. In the State Finals against Memorial the Cardinals prevailed with a 3-2 victory thereby winning the 1970 State Championship.

Coach Lefler discusses team strategy with Senior members Steve West, Jerry McGrew, Bobby Hurry, and Jim Shelton before an important game.

E.C.'s Tennis Team Finishes 3rd in Conference

Terry and Andrew show good sportsmanship after a single match.

East Central's tennis team under the direction of new head coach Bobby Smith goes into its 7th season fully prepared to continue the winning tradition that was set up by the 1970 team. The only returning letterman this year was Terry Downing, whose fine playing ability and sportsmanship led the rest of the team through a winning season. The matches were held at McClure Park, where they finished third in the conference and had an 11-2 dual record. Members were: Seniors, Robbie Doye, Andy Hendrickson, and Juniors, Terry Downing, Gary McClanahan, and Jerry Jones.

Golfers Take 4th Place in All-City Tournament

East Central golfers, seniors Bryan Humphrey and Bob Farley, and junior John Salzano brought the Cards into a fourth place standing in the All City Golf Tournament. They won six out of ten matches on the home course, Mohawk Park. The team placed 3rd in the Magic Empire Golf Conference and fourth in the 4A Golf Regional Tournament held at Mc-Alester. The Cardinal golfers, under new headcoach Eddie Dyer are entering their ninth conference season.

The crowning of this year's Miss East Central V, Diana Morgan, turned out to be an original and plush affair. Miss East Central was attired in the traditional white gown with the attendants dressed in hot pink velvet gowns. The setting was done in varying shades of pink, deviating from the traditional red and white. Along with Diana Morgan this year's royal court included senior attendant Cindy Wayt, junior, Debi Eddington and sophomore, Debbie Syverson. Ashley Talton, Student Council President, officiated as the Master of Ceremonies and made the traditional presentations to the Queen.

Who Makes Hall of Fame?

A vote of confidence. That's how the 1971 "Hall of Famers" got elected from faculty members covering every area of school activities. Hall of Fame is an exclusive honor in that all a student has to be is very good in his field. This can mean how you tune up an engine or how you sing a solo or how you match a seam. Just ask Jim Allen or Jerry McGrew or Rita Montgomery. And Hall of Fame is also exclusive in that the membership may not total more than 10% of the graduating class - or 43 this year. Congratulations 43! The Cardinal is proud to extend you these pages. And even with this distinguished background, you've still got a lifetime to go.

Mrs. Jewell Hilderbrand, Teacher of a Lifetime

... And Gladly Teach ...

This excerpt from another master teacher seems to be written for Mrs. Jewell Hilderbrand, Head of the English Department, who will retire this spring after 41 years of teaching. One of these is "off the record" because she taught one full year without pay during the depression era. It is to this spirit of personal dedication that the yearbook staff makes its own dedication. Another who is leaving, Richard Kern, above, bestows the feeling of affection which Cardinal students hold for the lively lady of English, Home Economics, and Art classrooms. Her career began in 1929 at Lone Star school in Seminole County; then fortified with two lifetime teaching certificates, she taught through a series of rural schools in Oklahoma, leading to Lynn Lane in 1956 where she taught Music and Art. In 1963 she joined the staff of East Central and assumed the chairmanship of the English Department. So, goodbye for now, Mrs. Hilderbrand; we thank you for your inspiration and devotion; we wish you well in the future.
